

KENTUCKY SIX-YEAR ROAD PLAN

A link to the enacted FY2023-FY2028 Kentucky Six-Year Road Plan can be found here. There is much good information to be found in the narrative portion of the plan and can be very informative in beginning to understand the state road program in Kentucky. The process used to create the Kentucky Six-Year Road Plan is illustrated in the graphic below.

- Traditionally the Governor presents KYTC’s proposed plan to the general assembly at the beginning of a budget session (even number years).
- The House then considers the plan, making any changes to the proposed plan before filing the plan as a bill and moving to pass the bill, then sending it over the Senate for consideration. House members will meet with leadership, or the person(s) designated to put together the House Road Plan to express any priority projects that need to be included in the plan.
- The bill is then sent to the Senate where a similar process takes place.
 - If the bill is passed by the Senate as was sent over from the House (Senate concurs), then the bill is sent to the Governor for approval.
 - If the bill is modified and then passed by the Senate, it is sent back to the House for review and approval (concurrence).
 - If the House concurs, they approve the bill, and it is sent to the Governor for approval
 - If the House does not concur, the House and Senate can form a Free Conference Committee to craft a bill to which both chambers can agree.
- The bill is sent to the Governor for approval.
